Home Record: 3-0

Take Notice – Nik Goncin is Here to Play: Canada's Nik Goncin (Regina Sask.) is competing at his first major competition with the Canadian Men's Senior National Team, but from his play you would assume he has done this before. Goncin recorded 18 points and 12 rebounds, leading Canada to a 68-62 victory over Argentina on Tuesday night. This was his second double-double performance in three games at the Toronto 2015 Parapan Am Games. Goncin is leading all players in overall scoring and in average points per game at the TO2015 Games. Look for Goncin to take his game to the next level as Canada enters the playoff round.

Culture of excellence: The Canadian Senior Men's National Team thrives at multisport competitions. Canada has medalled at every Parapan Am Games in history and is a three-time Paralympic Champion. Half of the team competing in Toronto are Paralympic Champions, having won gold at the London 2012 Paralympic Games. The men will look to build on this culture of excellence at multisport Games.

Hometown heroes: Playing on home soil is always special but for Team Canada members Adam Lancia (Scarborough, Ont.), Abdi Dini (Scarborough, Ont.), Tyler Miller (Kitchener, Ont.) & Steve Bialowas (Richmond Hill, Ont.) the Toronto 2015 Games mean even more. As local athletes, playing in their own backyard is the opportunity of a lifetime.

Drive for Five: Canada is looking for its fifth podium finish in as many appearances at the Parapan American Games. Canada finished first in 2003, took home silver in 1999 and 2007 and finished third in 2011. The Parapan Am tournament serves as a qualifier for the 2016 Paralympic Games. If the men's team reaches the gold medal game, it automatically earns a berth into next year's Paralympics to defend their title as Paralympic champions. In the event that Brazil makes the final, Canada can still claim a berth to Rio by finishing third, as Brazil is already assured a berth as host nation.*
